

WNAR / IMS 2007

Hosted by

Department of Statistics
University of California, Irvine

June 24th-27th

On the campus of
University of California, Irvine

WNAR / IMS 2007

UCIrvine

UNIVERSITY OF CALIFORNIA, IRVINE

*Local attractions: Southern California is famous for sunny forecasts and warm temperatures which give rise to a variety of outdoor attractions
including: local beaches,
biking, Disneyland,
professional sports teams,
and more.*

For more information visit

www.ics.uci.edu/wnar

Meeting Highlights

Short Course on Causal Inference
Sunday, June 24th

Taught by Professor Donald Rubin,
Department of Statistics, Harvard University

WNAR Presidential Invited Address
Monday, June 25th

Presented by Professor Terry Speed,
Department of Statistics, UC Berkeley

New Researchers Luncheon
Tuesday, June 26th

- Opportunity for young researchers to meet new colleagues
- Round table discussions with senior faculty members

Student Paper Competition

- Cash awards given for best manuscript and best oral presentation
- Free registration for competing students

Sample Invited Session Themes:

- Statistical learning and bioinformatics
- New advances in longitudinal and survival analysis
- Bayesian methods for statistical genetics
- Missing data

Traveling to Irvine, CA: Irvine is accessible via three international airports that are serviced by most major air carriers:
John Wayne Airport (SNA) 10 min ■ Long Beach Airport (LGB) 30 min ■ LA International Airport (LAX) 55 min